

National Writing Project at Rider University

NEW 2017 Blended Invitational Summer Institute

We all have stories to tell and ideas to share but what is often missing is the time and environment to put pen to paper and share these stories with other writers.

Join us to explore your own creative and professional writing potential and learn how to carry your expertise into the classroom.

You will leave with tools for the classroom and a plan to keep you writing once you leave. Instructors will lead discussions in ways that encourage participants to think as writers and as teachers of writers.

July 10th–13th (Monday–Thursday)
(9:00 a.m.–3:00 p.m.)

Online resources and support throughout the summer and in the fall.

2 follow-up sessions in the fall and winter
(Dates and times to be determined based on participant availability.)

- Daily guest speakers
- Network with colleagues from other districts
- If interested, participants may elect to earn 1-3 graduate credits

Cost: $295 or $275 if registered before April 30th!

Successful completion of the entire experience (summer and fall) will entitle participants to receive a $200 voucher to be used for professional resources or experiences.

The Invitational Summer Institute is at the core of NWP's model of "teachers teaching teachers". The institute is designed to support teachers as professionals, as researchers, and as writers.

Starting in the summer and continuing into the fall, this leadership institute is for K-16 teachers interested in deepening their understanding of the teaching of writing.

Register here:

<https://goo.gl/forms/cP0bAyjD5wtJLb4C3>

Limited to only
12-15 registrants
Register early to ensure a spot!

For additional information contact Dr. Heather Casey

hcasey@rider.edu
www.nwprider.org